

HUBERT CROUSE HEFFNER

Hubert Crouse Heffner, born in Maiden, North Carolina, who has A.B. and M.A. degrees from this University, was for four years a member of the English Department faculty and Associate Director of the Carolina Playmakers, in which he had been active as a student. He is at present Distinguished Service Professor of Dramatic Literature at the University of Indiana, a deserved recognition of his long and brilliant career as a productive scholar, theatrical director, and administrator, at that institution and earlier at Northwestern and Stanford Universities. He is a Fellow and has been President of the American Education Theatre Association. In the fiftieth anniversary year of the Carolina Playmakers it is especially fitting that this Playmaker, who has so distinguished himself, should be once again in Chapel Hill. The University of North Carolina is pleased to confer on him the degree of Doctor of Letters.