Faculty Council meets Friday, December 12

The Faculty Council will hold its final fall meeting on Friday, December 12th, 2014 from 3:00 to 5:00 pm in the Pleasants Room at Wilson Library. There are no expected action items, but the Council will be discussing the upcoming faculty nominating process for the elections in the spring of 2015, hearing a report on some new initiatives from the Faculty Athletics Committee, getting one-minute “lightning updates” from many of the faculty committees, and addressing other matters of current concern in conversation with the chancellor and provost.

The agenda is online here, and all faculty are welcome to attend.

December 14 Commencement details; join the faculty procession, 1:30 pm

Carolina’s mid-year commencement ceremony will be held on Sunday, December 14th at 2:00 p.m. at the Dean E. Smith Center. There are fewer graduates in December than in May, and the number of associated family and friends present is correspondingly smaller. As a result you can play a large role in the life of December 2014 UNC graduates by joining ...

Contextualized transcripts delayed

The implementation of contextualized transcripts has been delayed due to technical reasons and will not launch this fall. According to Assistant Provost and University Registrar Christopher Derickson, the delay will ensure that "any changes to our transcript accurately and readily reflect the academic performance of our students, while also conveying the contextualized grading information in the manner that Faculty Council envisioned."
