

NOTICE OF FACULTY ELECTIONS

On Friday, April 7, 2017, all members of the Voting Faculty will receive a unique ballot link to vote in the 2017 faculty elections. The ballot email will carry the subject line “Faculty Elections Ballot 2017.” To vote, simply click the balloting link and proceed through the pages to make your selections for each race for which you are eligible to vote. (The ballot will only offer you the races for which you are eligible to vote.) At the end, hit “submit,” and your vote will be registered.

To help faculty make an informed choice, we have provided information about the candidates in the 2017 Faculty Voter Guide. Each ballot will contain a link to the full guide so that you can reference candidate information while casting your ballot.

If you prefer to use a shorter guide, a four-page list of the candidates will be published in the April 5 issue of the University Gazette, or you may click here to download the abbreviated guide.

This year, two outstanding candidates are running for Chair of the Faculty. Professors Lloyd Kramer (History) and Leslie Parise (Biochemistry and Biophysics) are profiled in the University Gazette. Click here to learn more about their experience and positions on faculty governance-related issues.

If you have any questions, or you don't receive an elections ballot on Friday, April 7, please contact the Office of Faculty Governance at (919) 962-2146.

