Dear Professor Ferrell:

On behalf of the Committee on Scholarships, Awards and Student Aid, an appointive committee of the Chancellor, I am submitting the 2004-05 annual report on scholarships, awards, and financial aid, prepared by the Office of Scholarships and Student Aid in conjunction with the Office of Institutional Research. The report summarizes all aid distributed by the Office of Scholarships and Student Aid to enrolled undergraduate, graduate, and professional students from July 1, 2004 to June 30, 2005. The report is accompanied by various charts which illustrate distribution patterns.

In addition, I am submitting a roster of Committee members for the 2005-06 year, and am including a copy of the "critical questions" regarding scholarships and student aid. These policy questions anchor the work of the Committee and contribute to campus planning and policy discussions.

Sincerely,

Charles Daye / s.a. ext

CRITICAL QUESTIONS REGARDING SCHOLARSHIPS AND STUDENT FINANCIAL AID
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Academic Year 2004-05

Need-based student financial aid protects access for students who, without such assistance, could not afford to attend the University. Merit-based aid recognizes and rewards student talent and promise and positions the University to compete for highest-achieving students, without regard to need. Both are important sources for the recruitment and retention of undergraduate and graduate/professional students at the University.

The Office of Scholarships and Student Aid, the Office of Institutional Research, and the Faculty Committee on Scholarships, Awards and Student Aid will continue to perform research and examine the following questions throughout the 2005-06 academic year:

A. Questions Related to Campus Enrollment Planning:

1. How many more students will likely need financial aid under different enrollment growth scenarios, and in what types and amounts?
2. How will likely tuition and fee increases at the state or campus level impact the need for additional grant aid, and for whom?
3. What is the impact of the Carolina Covenant on low-income student recruitment, performance, and retention?
4. How effectively is Carolina using both need-based and merit scholarship funds (using legally permissible criteria) to recruit students of color to campus?
5. How effective is Carolina's current effort to attract the highest achieving in-state and out-of-state students through expanding its merit scholarship program?
6. How do students of all income levels pay for education at Carolina? How are middle-income students faring at Carolina, given recent tuition increases?
7. What are the socioeconomic characteristics of students who study abroad? And to what extent are these opportunities available to students who depend on need-based aid to help cover college costs?

B. Recurring Questions Related to the Distribution and Allocation of Aid:

1. What is the proper balance between:
  - a. need-based and merit-based aid;
  - b. aid to graduate/professional and undergraduate students;
  - c. aid to in-state and out-of-state students?
2. What are the appropriate relative roles of the student, the family, the institution, the state government and the federal government in paying for one's education? And, to what extent should each party reasonably be expected to contribute?

The following 33 members were granted excused absences: Arnold, Bennett, Booth, Connolly, Conover, Copenhaver, Dalton, Frampton, Gasaway, Gerber, Gilligan, Gullledge, Heenan, Holmgren, Howell, Kagarise, Klebanow, Lastra, Martin, Matson, Mesibov, Muller, Papanikolas, Rock, Sandelowski, Simpson, Sutherland, Tiwana, Vick, Wallace, Weir, Wissick, Wolford. The following six members were absent without excuse: Anton, Belger, Ewend, Keagy, Lin, Marshall.

Chancellor's Remarks

Chancellor Moeser spoke of the tragic death of Keith Shawn Smith, a sophomore from Greensboro, who died of a fall from a third story window in Stacy Residence Hall. Mr. Smith and another student, who is in critical condition, were running down a hallway and crashed through a window at the end of the hall. There was no indication of drug or alcohol impairment. The Council observed a moment of silence.

The chancellor reported on recent trips to New Hanover High School in Wilmington, where he spoke to students in the college preparatory program; to Elizabeth City, where he visited the joint UNC-Chapel Hill/Elizabeth City State University pharmacy program; and to Kannapolis, where he attended ground-breaking ceremonies for the core laboratory building at the Kannapolis Research Campus.

Chancellor Moeser announced that Dr. Jean Folkerts, professor of honors and of media and public affairs at George Washington University, has been selected to become the next dean of the School of Journalism and Mass Communication.

Chair of the Faculty's Remarks

Professor Wegner congratulated Provost Robert Shelton on his recent selection as the next president of the University of Arizona. The Council responded with a standing ovation, whereupon Provost Shelton spoke warmly of his five years at Carolina.

Prof. Wegner said that the Council Committee on Fixed-Term Faculty has begun to meet and will report to the Council in April.

Prof. Wegner reported that Prof. Bonnie Yankaskas is in line to become vice-chair of the UNC Faculty Assembly. Members of the Faculty Assembly delegation spoke briefly on the Assembly's work in the current year.

Annual Reports to the Faculty Council

Advisory Committee on Undergraduate Admissions. Sr. Assoc. Dean Bobbi Owen briefly reviewed the committee's annual report. She highlighted changes in procedures for admission to the Honors Program that are designed to overcome losses in acceptances.

Prof. Mary Anne Salmon (Social Work) expressed concern that the percentage of African-American enrollment appears to remain flat at about 11%. Ms. Barbara Polk, Sr. Assoc. Director of Undergraduate Admissions, said that the admissions office is also concerned about that. She reviewed efforts being made to increase minority enrollment.

Prof. Wegner observed that student athletes who are admitted as such seem to come from weaker high schools. Ms. Polk agreed with that observation.

Dean Owen reviewed the procedures for accepting students under the special exception for athletics. Ms. Polk said that there are currently 157 slots for athletic admissions allocated among all varsity sports. She said that the Office is initiating a new program under which there will be 140 athletic admissions slots, plus an additional 20 for students who are academically strong. She gave as an example, an out-of-state student who is not competitive in the overall out-of-state applicant pool but who would definitely be competitive in the in-state pool.

Prof. Wegner asked whether there is truth in the widely-held belief that it more difficult for Chapel Hill residents to get admitted to Carolina. Ms. Polk said there is no basis in fact for those rumors.

Prof. Bereket Selassie (African/Afro-American Studies) asked about the ratio of women to men in the student body. Dean Owen said that gender is not a factor in the admissions process; gender is ascertained only after the applicant has been admitted. Ms. Polk said that the higher proportion of women is due to the fact that fewer men choose to pursue higher education.

Prof. Diane Leonard (English & Comparative Literature) asked about the low percentage of enrollment of Native-Americans. Ms. Polk said that one of the obstacles to improving recruitment of Native-American students is that their families are often very resistant to sending children far away from home.

Committee on Scholarships and Student Aid. Prof. Charles Daye, chair of the committee, reviewed the committee's annual report with the aid of a PowerPoint presentation.

Prof. Marc Alperin (Marine Science) asked for more information about aid for graduate students. Prof. Daye replied that it is difficult to gather full information on graduate student aid, partly because some departments are reluctant to provide all of the relevant data. Ms. Shirley Ort, Director of Student Aid, noted that the committee's report includes only data on aid administered by the Student Aid Office. Often there are other sources for graduate students, such as funding from grants. Ms. Ort said that she does not have data on that source. She said that most of the funding for graduate students through the Student Aid Office is in the form of loans because nearly all federal funding for grants-in-aid is limited to undergraduate students.

Prof. Terence McIntosh (History) asked about students who work in order to make ends meet. Prof. Daye said that the committee has no information about that. Dr. Lynn Williford, Director of Institutional Research, said that survey data reveals that by their senior year, about 75% of all students have off-campus jobs. Prof. Joy Renner (Allied Health Sciences) added that the motivation is often to generate discretionary income, not to meet basic living expenses.

Prof. Andrew Perrin (Sociology) asked what effect allowing in-state tuition rates for full scholarship out-of-state students would be likely to have. Prof. Daye acknowledged that there could be some impact, but said that it is too early to tell how much.

Update on Enrollment Management Planning
