

ALFRED THEODOR BRAUER is Kenan Professor Emeritus of this institution. Born in Germany, he attended Heidelberg and the University of Berlin. He later taught at Berlin. He came to the United States in 1939 and was for a time at the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton and on the faculty of New York University. In 1942 he came to the University of North Carolina. Here in Chapel Hill Professor Brauer distinguished himself on several levels. In recognition of excellence in undergraduate teaching he received the Tanner Award. He was equally stimulating in his teaching of graduate students; he gave careful direction to numerous dissertations. One of his most useful achievements was the collection of books for the mathematics library. This has been described as "one of the finest mathematical collections in the United States." His research has been equally brilliant. He is the author of more than one hundred research papers which have brought to him and to the University national and international recognition. In 1971 the Humboldt University in Berlin presented him its Hegel Award. His own University is pleased to add to his awards the degree, Doctor of Laws.
