

ROBERT HUNT PARKER, North Carolinian by birth, student at the University of North Carolina, graduate of the University of Virginia and of its Law School, able and effective lawyer, legislator and Solicitor, wise and just judge of the Superior Court, lending his insight and understanding to the creative work of the Commission to Study the Improvement of Justice and the Judicial Council, and since 1952 a scholarly and enlightened Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, he has left the imprint of his learning and wisdom on the administration of justice in this State. In recognition of his services and achievements in the great Anglo-American tradition, the University of North Carolina gladly awards to him the degree of Doctor of Laws.